

Hence, mortal! learn no more to boast
Of beauty, knowledge, wealth or pow'r,
For all we can enjoy at most,
Are but the pageants of an hour.

Then come Religion! Child of Truth,
And lead me thro' this vale of tears;
Thou staff of age and guide of youth,
Come soothe my pains, dispel my fears,

Assist me in the hour of death,
When nothing from his stroke can save,
In praise to spend my latest breath,
And joyful triumph o'er the grave.

Solitary Walk.

FINIS.

A CATALOGUE of Entertaining Books for Children (each adorned with Copper-Plate and other Cuts, bound and gilt) printed for H.
TURPIN, Bookseller and Stationer, No. 104, St. John's-Street, West-Smithfield, London, and sold by all Bookfellers, Stationers, School-masters, News-Carriers, Toy-Shops, &c. in Town and Country.

Good Allowance to Merchants and Captains of Ships who take them abroad.

	s.	d.
1 HISTORY of Fanny Fairchild, and Charlotte Jones	0	1
2 History of Tommy Sugar Plumb	0	1
3 History of Polly Cherry	0	1
4 Pappa's present to his good Children	0	1
5 Nancy Cock's Golden Toy	0	2
6 Instructive and entertaining Emblems, by Miss Thoughtful	0	2
7 Jackey Dandy's Song-Book	0	2
8 Turpin's London Primer	0	3
9 Pretty Play Book	0	4
10 Scripture Alphabet; or, the prin- cipal Histories in the Old and New Te- stament	0	4
11 Adventures of Gulliver's Travels	0	6
12 Adventures of Roderick Random	0	6
13 History of Prince Almanfor and the Beautiful Shepherdes	0	6
14 History of Don Quixote	0	6
15 AEsop's Fables—Cuts black	0	6
16 Mirror		